The Nationals in Chicago.

Special Disputch to THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN Chicago, Liz., April 24, 1869.

The Nationals finished their engagoment here to-day and second thoir second victory over Chicago. The weather was cold and windy, the ground slippery, and the atmosphere very damp. About 500 specialors were present. It was a bad day for good fielding, but the Nationals managed to keep their feet the best, and the "break-up" of the home club in the fifth inning, when the Nationals made three runs, settled matters. Lynch pitched, and has not found any one to object to his style of pitching since he left Cincinnat. The Nationals go to Caveland to -morrow night and play there Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Albany club will play fourteen games here this season.

The Nationals will be home by May 8, and will play the Albanys here on that date.

Snyder promises to down the Cleveland club. Charley soldom fails to keep a promise.

The Nationals are liable to beat any League club in any game, and at any time.—Chicago Tribuse.

Warner's base play appears to be hastonishing the League clubs and they pronounce it a great improvement over his exhibition last year.

McClellan acquitted himself before the Chicago club of the charge of not being a ball player, which they made in the year 1875. Now they want him. Mr. Michael B. The Sequel of a Visit to Washington.

Among other cases on the reports at Police headquarters yeasteday was that of Mary A. Parke, charged with being a fugitive from her home, Boston, Mass. The young lady who is very prepose esting in appearance, is held to avait instructions from her relatives, who are expected to arrive here to-day. She arrived in Washington last Wednesday morning, having been disappointed in not meeting certain friends in Baltimore. On her way to this city she was robbed of her pocketbook, which fact she reported at the Fifth precluct station to Sergeant Meilenry and Officer O'Haro. The officers became interested in her case, and, learning that she had no money, took her to the imperial Hotel, where she was kindly received by the properleter, Mr. James S. Pierce, From Miss Parke's story if appeared that she was about ciphteen years of ege and was highly connected in Roston. She had recently been at a toarding-school in Canada, and while there formed the acquaintance of a fellow-student named Denpsey, living in Baltimore. Several days ago Miss Parke concluded to Visit her friend at Baltimore after which she would meet party of friends from Boston, who were coming around to Washington on a yacht named the Louise. When she reached Baltimore she discovered that the Dempseys had moved, and she was unable to learn their whereabouts. If was then she decided to come to Washington and await the arrival of her friends from Boston. These facts were reported to Major Brock, and a tolegram was sent to the chief of police of floation asking information on the subject. A reply was received directing that the authorities should hold her until her relatives came or sent for her. Meanwhile, the young lady remained at Police headquarters.
